PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The Muco-Periosteal Retractor is an indispensable oral, dental, and maxillofacial surgical retractor engineered specifically to provide safe, atraumatic elevation and retraction of the mucoperiosteum from underlying alveolar and facial bones. Designed with an anatomical blade contour, this retractor allows oral surgeons to shield delicate gingival tissues and neurovascular bundles cleanly away from rotary burs, drills, and osteotomes.

Built for optimal tactile control in confined intraoral corridors, this Muco-Periosteal Retractor configuration ($54) features an ergonomic shank that keeps the assistant's hands safely outside the operative line of sight. Handcrafted from Premium Grade AISI 304/316 Stainless Steel (Non-Magnetic) to ensure lifetime corrosion resistance, its working end incorporates smoothly rounded margins that seat securely against cortical bone cortices without tearing fibrous periosteal envelopes. The balanced flat handle delivers fatigue-free manual leverage throughout extended oral procedures.

Forged with an anti-glare satin matte finish, Retractor Maker manufactures the Muco-Periosteal Retractor to withstand repetitive hospital sterilization cycles, providing dental surgical suites, oral surgery centers, and maxillofacial clinics worldwide with exceptional structural rigidity, corrosion resistance, and complete autoclave durability.
